“ I can honestly say Jerry was what a man should be hard working rough around the edges but inside a heart of gold. He taught me a lot about building things and I was able to use his lessons to get myself ahead in life..and now am able to use them on my own property and for that I am forever grateful..Jerry was a man's man and they truly don't make to many of those anymore At a time when I needed a little help he didn't even hesitate to lend a hand and for that I will never forget. I will never forget what a truly giving man he was. He gave of himself to help Kathy raise children that were not his but who he loved , treated taught and took care of as they were his very own. No man is perfect we all have our flaws but the measure of a man is the little things that he did for others along his journey on this earth and the tape measure reads that Jerry did a lot of little things to help a lot of people along the way. What I most admired about Jerry is that he stayed so loving to Kathy for so long .. every relationship has its ups and downs but few last as long as there's did it takes true deep love and dedication to make that happen They shared a great love story that few of us will ever get to experience.. Jerry Thank you ..we love you miss you and will never forget you.. May you forever rest peacefully and forever walk beside our lord ..

“ Even though Jerry has been a part of my nephews lives for many years, I personally didn't know him very well, but what I do know is, he stepped in and raised my nephews to the best of his ability, he taught them to work hard and respect others, I know it wasnt always easy but he never gave up on them and for that I thank him and Kathy. I am so sorry for your loss, Please know I am here for you! I love you!

Love,
Rena

“ I can still remember the first time I saw you. You was my childhood hero. You was my prince charming that was in my childhood dreams. My life was nothing and I saw you. I knew in that moment God sent you to me. We became close friends before we realized we was meant to be more. Our 33 years together had good times and bad. But we stayed together and worked it out. After all those years I loved you more than the day before. I always knew you was a strong man but this last year you showed me you was the strongest man I'd ever known. You fought one Hella fight when nothing went right for you. You not one time gave up. It was a honor to be by your side holding you up helping you along the way. From wed of last week until yesterday morning was your biggest fight and it broke my heart to see you go. But I knew and so did you that that was no quality of life for you. No matter what I would of held your hand through anything. My love for you told me it was Time to let you go. As scared as I am now to face life without you. I know that it's okay to not be okay. But dam it hurts. But knowing you're at peace and out of pain and holding our Jaxyn Storm helps me be at peace. I miss you so much and it's only been a day. I pray that God gives me strength and help me understand. I hope he walks with me every step of the way until the day I can be back in the safety of your arms again. I loved you before I met you, felt honored to be loved by you, and cherish every moment we loved together. Until I see you again. FLY HIGH MY ANGEL FLY HIGH WATCH OVER US AND LOVE OUR BABY UNTIL WE ARE CALLED HOME. I LOVE YOU FOREVER JERRY ARLEN CHRISTMAS JR. ❤️🙏🌟

Jerry was a good man, honest, hard working, loved and took care of his family. It has been a privilege to be his friend. Over 25 years, we have torn apart, demolished, rebuilt, built from scratch, repaired so many things. I know that every time I work on something, I'll think of him, smile and remember how special he was. As hard as it is to lose him, I know he's well now.

Jerry was a wonderful man. They don't make them like that anymore. I will never forget your heart and soul. Thank you for the difference you made to this world. All my best to your family. And I know you were greeted by angels. As well as your love for dogs will never be forgotten. They don't forget anyone that's kind to them. Rest in peace. You did a wonderful job!
